One of the most inhuman acts ever induced by a panic was exhibited in the town of Hindsboro, Miss., last week. An Italian was taken sick with what was posed to be yellow fever. Living by himself in a small house, the sick man was shunned and avoided, and was allowed to him, but this not being successful, the body was allowed to remain in the house till the stench became unendurable. Finally the house was purchased from the owner, set on fire and burned, with the body of the

Irish Catholic Colonization,

National Associated Press to the Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 .- The benefits of the Irish Catholic Colonization was the subject lie without attention of any kind. When of an address by Rev. T. A. Butler, of the he was dead an attempt was made to bury Cathedral, in St. Louis. The speaker opened his address by stating his views on Irish colonization. The speaker then sketched the history of the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union, of the United States, which was founded a few years ago by Judge Dwyer, of Daylon, Ohio, and now numbers thirty thousand members. He regretted to have to say that little or no effort has been made in New York. The Western priests are rapidly falling into line. Two joint stock companies have been formed—one in St. Louis and one in Philadelphia, each share being fixed at $1. Those who have gone out under this arrangement bave met with great success. Agents have been sent out to Arkansas, Texas and Kan-

The Rights of Tramps and Whisky Men in Chicago—The Malicious Undertaker and the Weather Prognosticator in St. Louis.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.-Judge Harlan yester day morning rendered a decision in the whisky cases, affirming the previous decisions of Judge Blodgett. The Court held a right to promise immunity to persons owright to promise immunity to persons owing taxes. In what are known as first batch cases, involving $400,000, the decision is against the Government, it having promised immunity. In the second batch of cases, involving $250,000, the decision is against the whisky men.

Judge McAllister yesterday morning gave a lengthy opinion, holding that the va-grant act in this State is unconstitutional and takes away the right of trial by jury. He ordered the prisoner arrested as a va grant to be discharged.

St. Louis, Oct. 1.-Frank H. Murrell, the malicious undertaker who was arrested a short time ago for libeling several of our citizens in an article in the Chicago Inter-Ocean, was arraigned before the Court of Criminal Correction, his counsel praying for a change of venue on the grounds that the people of St. Louis were too much prejudiced against him to risk his case be-fore them. The matter was taken under advisement, and it is thought will be overruled.

FATAL AFFRAY BETWEEN OLD MEN. Elias Leutz and Jacob Knessley, two respectable farmers residing near Pleasant Corner, Lehigh County, both of whom are over sixty-five years county, both of whom are over axiy-nve years old, became involved in a bitter quarrel, which resulted in a fight with clubs. Knessley finally felled Leutz with his weapon, and the latter expired in a short time. Both men were held in high esteem and the sad affair is much regretted by the community.

A MAN MURDERED FOR HIS CORPSE. Bringeport, Conn., Oct. 1.—Mrs. Alexander, aged twenty-four, a small, insignificant appearing woman, says that Frank E. Bassett, now in jail for stealing, lived with her last spring. On the even-ing of May 16th John Rufus, better known as stealing, lived with her last spring. On the evening of May 10th John Rufus, better known as "Stuttering Jack," was passing the piace and was invited in by Bussett to eat supper.

After eating, Rufus lay down on a lounge and fell asleep. Bussett then took a sponge, moistened it with chloroform and held it to Rufus' nose. Mrs. Alexander objected, but was told to shut up or she would be fixed in the same way. In a few minutes Rufus gasped two or three times and died. Within two hours after Bussett put the body in a barrel. Next day he drove to New Haven and attempted to sell the corpse to Dr. Saniord, of Yale Medical Sc ool. The doctor refused to purchase without a certificate from the proper authorities. Bassett then drove nearly to Hamilton and rolled the barrel down the embankment. The officers found the body Sunday.

Stuttering Jack was an inoffensive man, about twenty-eight years of age, who worked along the docks, and Bussett's sole object in the murder was to obtain the money in the pockets of his victim, which amounted to 75 cents, and to sell the body.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE FOLLY COMPANY AT THE GRAND. Colville's Folly Company last night opened an engagement at the Grand Operahouse to a fine audience. The new bur-lesque, "Our Cinderella," was presented for the first time. The Company is about the same as last year, with the exception of C. H. Drew in the place of Edouin. Drew is a Cincinnati boy, and was warmly welcomed, as he always is. "Cinderella" is a new burlesque, and with the exception of "Babe in the Wood" is the best on the repertoire of the Company. It sparkles with bright-ness all the way through, there not being a dull place in it. Marie Williams is as much of a favorite as ever, and so are Miss Roseau and the other members of the troups. There is no attempt at originality in the music, but it is pleasant and entertaining, and one goes home with the consciousness of having laughed a good laugh and been entertained.
